

An illustration of a large, ornate, dark-colored trunk or chest. The trunk features decorative metal hardware, including a large central latch and two smaller side latches. A central label is visible on the front panel, though the text on it is not legible. The trunk is shown from a slightly elevated perspective, highlighting its three-dimensional form and the intricate details of its construction.